3.1. JANE BROWN and MICHAEL HUGHES

The above mentioned page stated that Jane and her husband, Michael Hughes remained in North Carolina. Additional research has proved otherwise.

Michael Hughes was a son of James Hughes who owned property on Hodge Fork of the Uari (Uwharrie) River as early as 27 Nov 1792. This same James died and his estate was settled 25 May 1814, in Rowan County, N.C. His property was left to the following children: William, Susannah, Michael, Barbary, Sarah Fry and Mary Kindly (Kinley). These same children sold part of this estate to a James Hughes. Their relationship to this James was not stated.

Michael's sister, Barbary, is listed in the bastardy bonds for Sep. 1817. William Mose and Balsor Gore, signed as bondsman, that the child would not become a ward of the state.

On April 2, 1818, Benjamin Fry let Michael Hughes have 100 acres on the Uary (Uwharrie) River, next to James Hughes, Bryant Fry and Jerry Perry, for $200.

On November 21, 1821, Michael Hughes serves as a bondsman for his sister-in-law, Martha Brown, when she married David Boss. Martha was one of Jane's younger sisters.

On January 1, 1822, Michael lets George Kepley buy 100 acres next to James Hughes for 200 pounds.

As late as July 1826, Michael lets George Kepley buy 100 acres next to James Hughes for 200 pounds.

As late as July 1826, Michael and Jane were still living on land by the Uwharrie River. Their neighbors were: David Kepley, Ed Finch, John Plummer, Marshal Robarts and Jeremiah Perry.

It is not known just when Michael and Jane moved from North Carolina. During the 1820's and 1830's, there was a mass migration out of North Carolina. Many people went to Illinois, others to Indiana and elsewhere.

The 1830 Census does not record Michael living in North Carolina. Nor does the state of Indiana list him, but by 17 October 1839, Michael purchased 40 acres of land in Section 27 of Jackson Co., Indiana. Again in 1853, he purchased 40 more acres in Section 26 of the same county.

In a small notebook kept by Moroni Brown, Captain James Brown's youngest son by his first wife, Martha Stephens, Moroni records the names of children of many of his relatives. He mentioned that his Aunt Jane brown married Mike Hue and that they had three children, namely: Barbary, Polly and Silas Hues.

The 1850 Census of Own Twp., Jackson Co., Indiana, lists in house #436, page 199, Michael Hughes, age 66, born in N.C. His real estate property is valued at $200. His wife, Jane is listed as age 66, also born in N.C. There is a seven year old boy living with them by the name of Riley Davis. This boy was a son of their daughter Mary "Polly" Hughes Davis.

Living nearby in house #443, page 200, is the Samuel Davis Family, his wife, "Polly", age 30, born in N.C. and three sons: Emberson G. 5, Silas 3, and Pleasant, age 1. The child living with Michael and Jane was Amos Riley, the eldest of the Davis children.

Not far away in the same township in house #451, page 200, is Silas Hughes the youngest of Michael and Jane., age 24, born in N.C., with his wife, Parthena age 26, born in Indiana, and two children, James R. 3, and Mary age six months.

Page 2

Jane Brown Hughes died sometime between 1850 and 1858. Her husband, Michael remarried in Jackson Co., Indiana, 9 Dec. 1858, Mrs. Elizabeth Bails. The 1860 Census of Owen Twp., Jackson Co., Ind. Lists: Michael Hughes, age 72, a farmer, born in N.C. His wife Elizabeth, age 35, born in Indiana and two children Jane 8, and Lucinda 5. These would be Elizabeth's children by a previous marriage.

The 37 year difference in their ages is not so difficult to understand when one realizes that there was no social security in the mid 1880's and a young mother with two small children would probably accept whatever security was available or offered to her.

The Indiana record of Michael Hughes becomes a little confusing when another Michael Hughes who is slightly younger than our Michael moves into Jackson Co., Indiana. He was born in North Carolina. This second Michael first moves to Washington Co., Indiana and is living next door to some of our Hedrick and Boss relatives also from North Carolina. This man was married to a woman named Winnifred, who was born in Indiana. Their eldest daughter was also named Barbara.

There is a death record, 27 Aug. 1876, in Jackson Co., Indiana for a Michael Hughes, age 76. It simply states "An old citizen of this vicinity died Tues. AM, aged 76". This was copied from the Brownstown Banner. It is believed that this death notice refers to the second Michael Hughes, for the following reasons. First, our Michael should have been in his 80's by 1873, although, after he married a younger woman, his age becomes greatly diminished. In 1850, he was 66, but by 1860, he was only 72. He had lost four years between the two census records. The second reason for believing that the death notice was for the second Michael was that he lived in Brownstown where the notice was published. Our Michael lived in Owen Township of the same county.

A further complication of records occurs when a second Silas Hughes moves into Jackson Co., Indiana from Clark Co., Indiana. He is living here the same time Michael's son, Silas, is also living there.

No record has been found for Michael and Jane's daughter, Barbara. She could have died as a child in North Carolina, or she could have married in Indiana and her married name unknown. She was undoubtedly named after her father's sister.

Only the families of Mary "Polly" and Silas were found living in Indiana near their parents.

Mary "Polly" Hughes, the second daughter of Michael and Jane, married in Jackson Co., Indiana. She and her husband, Samuel Davis, owned a mill about two and one half miles East of Clear Springs in Owen Township. When her husband Samuel died 4 July 1857, the record stated: "He died in full triumph of the Baptist faith".

Samuel and Polly had bought 40 acres of land in Section 34, 10 Oct. 1844, for $75. Again on 31 Jan 1854, they bought another 80 acres for $280 in Sect. 35.

There is a marker for Samuel and their two year old daughter, Barbara Eliza in the Owen Twp. Cemetery, but there is no stone marker for Mary "Polly". She was still single 1860 through 1880. In 1870, she was living next door to her nephew, James Hughes.

Page 3

Silas Hughes was married 5 July 1843, in Jackson Co., Indiana. His sister married a month later, in August 1843. Silas married Parthena Weddel. He bought 40 acres of land 17 Sep. 1851, in Section 23 of Jackson County, Indiana. Parthena died, 10 May 1873, in Clear Springs, Jackson Co., Indiana. Their eldest son, Thomas J. was buried by his mother.

The attached Hughes Family group sheets contain all other information found on this family.

4.1. Clarification on the Portuguese/English/Irish Ancestors of Captain James Brown and his brother, Daniel Brown.

The following is a quote from Sketch of Captain James Brown, Pioneer of Ogden, Utah written by his grandson Moroni F. Brown. "Tradition traces the genealogy of Captain Brown back to his great grandfather who was a Scotchman by the name of Brown, and who was allied in marriage with a woman who was a native of Portugal; they being the grandparents of James Brown who served in the war as already stated."

So it was the great grandfather of Captain Brown who married a Portuguese woman. Therefore William Brown being the grandfather of Captain James; it would be the mother of William who is the Portuguese lady.

The above quoted history says that the great grandfather of Captain Brown was a Scotchman, which differs with the Journal of James S. Brown when he interview his father Daniel Brown. Daniel Brown was a brother to Captain James Brown. I quote from the journal "James Brown was born in the year 1757 ... and married to the widow of John Emberson... James Brown was of Portuguese and English decent. And his wife was of English Irish Descent." So Mary Williams was English Irish.

I personally at this time believe that the person who married the Portuguese lady was from Charleston South Carolina because that is where the Portuguese Jews were. Also there was a trade route directly from Charleston South Carolina to Salisbury North Carolina. However, I will stand corrected if proven otherwise. – Arlene Miller

4.2. New Findings: WILLIAMS

I found what I believe to be the line of Jane the wife of John Williams. Thomas Felps + Jane/ Jane Felps + John Williams / Mary or Polly Williams + James Brown . The following is my source and the information from the source.

I quote from "Abstract of Wills and Estates Records of Rowan County, North Carolina 1753 - 1805 and Tax Lists of 1759 and 1778 by Mrs. Stahle Linn, Jr., 975.671 P281j at the Logan Family History Library, Page 49:

"Thomas Felps Sr. 4 Apr 1794. prb. 1794. Farmer. Wife Jane to have land adj. Charles Caton and Isaac White and all my negroes. Sons: Abbinon, Thomas, Imanuel, Britton, William, Keeling, and Ezekiel. Each to have 5 shillings and Thomas gets the upper part of the land, and Imanuel gets the land adj. it. (This is clearly Imanuel, not Samuel.). Daus: Pherabe Williams, Ede Owings and Janes Williams." I have sent this family in for temple work.

Notice the name of Keeling. I suspect that Keeling's mother had the maiden name of Keeling. There is a John Williams who married a Mary Keeling and I think that we tie into this line in the following way.

Quoting from Ordinance Index for James Williams. "Daniel Williams married Ursula and had a son named James Williams born Nov 1740". The following additional information is taken from "Colonial Granville and its People" Page 283. There were two Joseph Williams one a cousin of the other. One was the child of Nathaniel Williams and the other was the child of Daniel Williams and his wife Ursual Henderson.

Page 238 clarifies things: "Daniel Williams (Son of John Williams and his wife Mary Keeling ) was born, as near as can be estimated about 1697. He married Ursual Henderson, who was the daughter of Thomas Henderson and his wife by his first marriage, Ursula Keeling, daughter of Capt. George Keeling of New Kent and his wife Ursual Fleming, ... Ursual Keeling was a sister of Mary Keeling who married John Williams and was the Aunt of Daniel Williams. Daniel Williams settled in Nutbush District in Granville (now Vance county) somewhere around 1740. He died leaving a will in Granville County dated in 1759 in which he mentions the following children:

Henry Williams

John Williams - The person who I believe is our John Williams ( I am still working on this)

Joseph Williams mentioned above

Daniel Williams

If the John Williams in this family is our John Williams (who married Jane) then Daniel Brown is probably named after his mothers' grandfather Daniel Williams. And John Williams probably named his daughter Mary after his grandmother Mary Keeling.

According to page 233, the Williams family is of Welch descent.

Page 236 "The town of Williamsboro, seven miles West of the town of Henderson, N. C. was the home of Judge John Williams then in Granville but now in Vance. About 1740 the Williams and Henderson and other families began to settle there and the place was called Nutbush.

So I believe the Williams line goes like this: John Williams / John Williams + Mary Keeling / Daniel Williams + Ursula Henderson/ John Williams + Jane Felps / Mary or Polly Williams + James Brown / Daniel Brown the brother of Captain James Brown. If I can get it proven and put on disk I hope to sent it to you with the family groups and pedigree charts and documentation. – Arlene Miller

4.3. New Findings: STEPHENS

Last but not least I have some new information on the Richard Stephens and Martha Robins line.

Her name was given as Robins when her temple work was done.

If that is correct, then she is most likely related to the Joseph Robins who made a Will in Rowan Co. in 1754. That Joseph Robins married Eleanor Nations, and I will send that family in for temple work.

Also on the Stephens side, Richard Stephens Jr. (the son of Richard Stephens and Martha) married Nancy and had a child with a very interesting name that I believe is a clue to the line. The name is Jasper Newton Stephens. It is very apparent from the names for Jasper Newton Stephens' brothers and sisters that the children in this family were named names for reasons; either after family members or names such as Faith, etc. When I studied the History of Francis Marion, there were two of the most courageous characters who fought with Marion in the Revolutionary war in South Carolina. One was William Jasper and the other his comrade Sergeant Newton. I believe, therefore, that our Richard Stephens who married Martha must have either know them or known their stories, to have had a grandson named after them. Therefore, I believe that the Stephens line comes from Charleston, South Carolina.

I found the following in the ordinance index (a name that was extracted) Richard Stevens christened 24 July 1737 in St. Helenas Parish, Beaufor, South Carolina. His father was Richard Stevens and his mother Margaret Whitmarsh. These people and their families are in the St. Helenas Parish Records and I will be sending them in for temple work as I believe they are related somehow. Hopefully I will find more on this. – Arlene Miller

PAGES OF HISTORY TURNED BACK 100 YEARS TO CALIFORNIA GOLD FIELD January 17, 1948

By Gordon B. Hinckley

This column goes back a full round century this week to recount a story which has been told before, but which so well illustrates that spirit of consecration which built the Church that it is worth another telling-- and many more tellings in the years to come.

In January 1848, six members of the Mormon Battalion were working for John Sutter, building a sawmill on the south fork of the Sacramento.

The Battalion had been mustered out at San Diego the previous July and these men had followed the counsel of the Church leaders that they remain in California and work until the following spring.

On the afternoon of January 24, James W. Marshall, Sutter's partner and foreman of construction, was walking along by the tailrace which had been constructed to return to the river the water which ran over the wheel. His eye caught something bright and he picked it up. It proved to be gold.

James Barger next found a scale of the precious metal and soon all of the men had a little. In addition to Barger there were Henry W. Bigler, Alexander Stephens, James S. Brown, William Johnson and Azariah Smith of the Battalion.

In the days that followed they continued their search for gold, and during off hours were liberally rewarded for their labors discovering what became some of the richest claims in an area that eventually produced five hundred million dollars of wealth! And this, while the matter was still very largely a secret; known only to those laboring along the river.

And yet these Battalion men remained at their work for Sutter and Marshall. They had given their work that they would build the sawmill, and they confined their prospecting to off-time until the mill was running on the 11th of March.

That spring the news of gold began to spread. Sam Brannan picked up the word at Sutter's Fort, and hurried on the San Francisco where he shouted the good tidings. Men went mad. The city was almost deserted as men rushed to the diggings.

The fever spread over the earth with a result that is well know. Hundred of thousands raced to California and the American Sacramento River valleys.

And yet that historic spring of 48 the Battalion men checked in with John Sutter. From him they purchased wagons, horses, tools, and seeds, prepared to leave that for which thousands were going crazy' in order that they might pioneer a road over the Sierras to build a home and wrest a living from the semiarid wilderness of the Great Basin.

Writing of that experience many years ago he said, "I have never seen that rich spot of earth since; nor do I regret it for there always has been a higher object before men than gold. We had covenanted to move together under certain conditions, and those conditions existing, we were in honor bound to move the next day. We did move, leaving that rich prospect ;without ever striking a stake in the gulch, but abandoning it to those who might follow.

"... Duty called, our honor was at stake, we had covenanted with each other, there was a principle involved for with us, is was God and His kingdom first. We had friends and relative in the wilderness. Yea in an untried desert land, and who knew their condition? We did not. So it was duty before pleasure, before wealth, and with this prompting we rolled out...."

These were verily of the salt of the earth, these men who in 1848 turned their back on the gold of California to make the desert blossom and build up God's Kingdom in the valleys of the mountains. -- Arlene Miller

5. Appointment of Elder James Brown as Church Emigration Agent in New Orleans

Appointment of Elder James Brown as Church Emigration Agent in New Orleans

Submitted by Ronald B. Hill
2689 Tylor Street
Ogden, Utah 84401
Tel. 801-622-9381

“APPOINTMENT – Elder James Brown is hereby appointed Emigration Agent for the Saints at New Orleans. He is requested to go immediately to that city, so as to be there in time to make preparations for the ships, filled with the emigrating Saints from Liverpool. The most of these ships will most probably arrive between the middle of February and the middle of May. Elder Brown has been laboring in the ministry with some success in Indiana, and we trust his active business turn of mind will prove a blessing to the emigrating Saints, and save them much expense and trouble. Brother Brown will open a correspondence with S. W. Richards, our agent at Liverpool, and will thus learn, previous to the arrival of each ship, the names and ages of all the passengers on board, which will be a help to him in making every necessary arrangement.

-- ORSON PRATT

President of the Saints in the U.S. and British Provinces”
